About Me

Hey There!

My name is William Weiland and I am a 26 years old. I come from a family of Artistic Individuals. My family is originally from upstate New York, we moved to Georgia when I was young, hence I have been brought up a sotherner. In my early years I always showed interest in anything falling under the Fine Arts heading, whether that be singing, songwriting, drawing, and for some time dance. As I got older, music became my main focus but I still had passion for drawing and being creative in other avenues. Now that I am striving for more "secure" career paths, media and design was something I felt I'd be good at that I could apply to numerous opportunities.
